Email 1: Request for Assignment Extension

Subject: Request for Extension on Chemistry assignment
Due 27th March

Dear Professor,

I hope this email finds you well. I am writing to respectfully request a short extension on the submission deadline for the chemistry assignment, currently due on 27 March 2026. Unfortunately, I had unexpected health issues over the past week that prevented me from completing it on time. I have made significant progress and am committed to delivering high-quality work.

Would it be possible to extend the deadline to 29 March 2026? I appreciate your understanding and flexibility during this time.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best regards,

Anushka Jain

Email 2: Interest in Summer Internship

Subject: Application for Summer 2026 Internship Opportunity

Respected Internship Coordinator,

I hope you are doing well. My name is Anushka Jain, and I am a first-year Computer Science student at VIT Bhopal University. I am writing to express my strong interest in the summer internship positions at your company, as advertised on your careers page.

With coursework in data structures, machine learning, and software development and hands-on projects like a Python-based web app for data visualization, I am eager to contribute to your team while gaining practical experience. I am particularly drawn to your company's work in innovative AI solutions. I have attached my resume for your review.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Anushka Jain

Social media Do's and Don'ts checklist

As college students, social media is a big part of our daily lives. It can be a powerful tool for learning and connecting, but it also comes with responsibility. The following checklist highlights some important do's and don'ts for using social media wisely.

Do's

Think before you post – Ask yourself if your content could hurt, offend, or misrepresent someone.

Protect your privacy – Adjust your account settings and be careful about what personal details you share.

Share accurate information – Always check the credibility of news or content before reposting.

Be respectful online – Communicate politely, even when you disagree with others.

Use social media positively – Follow educational pages, build connections, and use it for growth.
